The Highlands at Forest Park is one of the most important commercial development projects to happen in the City of St. Louis in several decades. Situated on the former site of the St. Louis Arena, the development is an instant landmark.

The 26-acre, mixed-use campus is prominently located on I-64 in St. Louis. It offers an excellent solution for corporations seeking a centrally-located signature office environment with convenient and direct interstate accessibility and free structured parking. When completed, the Highlands will contain 1 million square feet of office/medical space, modern loft-style apartments, a six-story hotel and new restaurant facility.
